FROM THE EDITOR

ust like MasterChef sent the amateur chefs back into the kitchen, The Block is bringing out the renovator in us all — and this issue definitely has a touch of Block fever!

Thanks to The Good Guys, we take a look inside the kitchens from The Block: Triple Threat and reveal the current trends and products shaping modern kitchen design in 2015.

We also caught up with The Block couple Kyal and Kara to chat about their new kitchen renovation in their own home. Sporting stunning Cosentino benchtops, Kyal's signature timber style and elegant copper accents, the couple confess that this project was a lot less stressful than their season on show.

Ben Milbourne has definitely been busy since his appearance on the 2012 season of MasterChef. And, while he didn't come first, his cooking career success story is a winner. Ben sits down with us to talk about his new book, food, his kitchen must-haves and life as a dad

This issue's Tried & Tested feature sees Thermomix go head-to-head with rivals Tefal and KitchenAid in an all-in-one-cooker showdown between new and original. Find who comes out

WHAT WE LOVE

TASTE OF SYDNEY

The KBQ team recently had the exciting opportunity of going to the Taste of Sydney festival as guests of Electrolux, the main sponsors of the event.

Apart from being wined and dined at the start of the day, KBQ editor, Carla May, and editorial assistant, Shauna O'Carroll, watched a live cooking demonstration hosted by Electrolux and celebrity chef Massimo Mele.

After watching Massimo cook one of his favourite childhood recipes (Nonna's octopus), Carla and Shauna were escorted on a World of Taste tour with Massimo around some of the Taste of Sydney restaurant stalls. Restaurants included Popolo, where Carla tried the winning purple potato gnocchi, and Colin Fassnidge's 4Fourteen restaurant, the home of the famous white chocolate and caramel popsicles.

While the rain started to fall towards the end, the event finished on a high note with the KBQ team getting the chance to talk with Massimo one-on-one about his fond memories of Italy and his new restaurant, La Scala on Jersey. It was the ultimate foodies' day out!

ELECTROLUX LOVES FOOD

Our top picks from the Electrolux products at Taste of Sydney include the Jug blender ($429) from the new Masterpiece Collection, and the six-zone Maxisense InfinitePro induction cooktop ($4269) from the Inspiration Cooking Range. These items bring chef-quality products within reach of the budding foodie. electrolux.com.au

AURA-INSPIRING SHOWERHEAD

Methven has officially released its new Aurajet showerhead, and KBQ was recently invited to attend the launch event hosted in Sydney. The Aurajet has a sleek design and packs an impressive punch with the spray coverage and pressure it delivers, reportedly offering a more relaxing shower experience while still being water efficient with a three-star WELS rating. But, the proof is in the showering! Watch out for next issue when editor, Carla May, provides a real-world verdict on the performance of the Aurajet in Tried & Tested - Bathroom Edition.

AT HOME WITH ...

BEN MILBOURNE

He became a kitchen heartthrob on MasterChef Australia in 2012 and despite coming fifth, ex-science teacher Ben Milbourne has concocted a career in cooking. He speaks to us about life as a dad, his kitchen musthaves and his new book about his beloved home state, Tasmania By Lizzie Fawcett

Tell us about your new book, Tasmanian Trail.

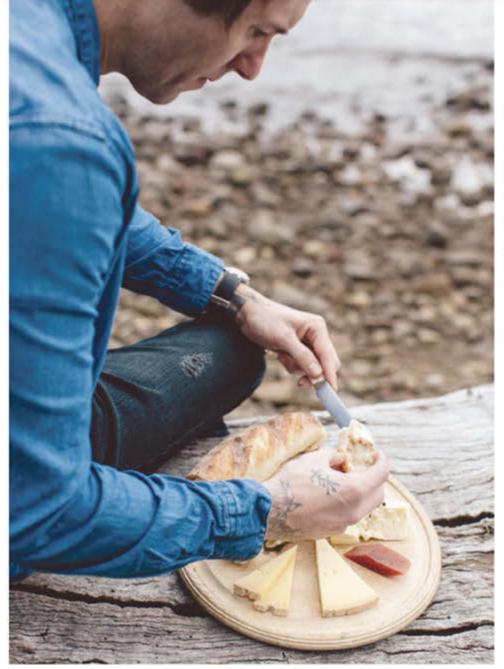

I spent last January and February travelling around the state, meeting with local small food producers and seeing what they were doing. We finished up with a couple of recipes from each producer and I had this great database of recipes and stories and pictures and I turned it into a book and Ben's Menu on Channel 10.

Which producers really stood out for you?

Huon Aquaculture, a big salmon producer down south in Tasmania — some of its animal husbandry is world-leading. Also a little chocolatier, Anvers, in Latrobe has just started importing the rarest chocolate in the world, Fortunato No. 4. It comes from Peru and it's a cocoa variety they thought was extinct. They've done DNA testing on it and found it is the rarest, oldest form of chocolate known to man, so it's the mother of all chocolates! Anthony Bourdain (American TV chef) has got the rights to it in the States and a little chocolatier here in Tasmania has the rights to it in Australia!

What do you think makes Tasmanian food producers so special?

One is definitely that we're an island so we have this security thing happening where we can control everything that comes onto the island and everything that goes off it. Then the fact we have four very distinct seasons so we can grow different crops in different seasons and grow really good produce in each season. We're a cool climate so things either have to stay on the tree or on the vine or in the ground for longer because they grow slower in a cool climate, which means they can draw up more nutrients out of the soil and take on more flavour.

has that one degree of separation between the person sitting down to eat the meal and the person who grew the food."

Have you been tempted to move away to pursue opportunities since MasterChef?

When I finished with MasterChef, there were many opportunities to move to either Sydney or Melbourne. My best mate, Andy Allen, who won my season of MasterChef, now lives in Sydney.

So the "bromance" that began on the show has continued?

Yeah, we're still best mates and he still comes down here quite a bit and I was just up there visiting him. We're heading off to Spain and Portugal for a bit of a food tour for a month. We're writing a book while we're there and we'll film the experience as well for our YouTube channel, Andy Allen Cooks. He works in a restaurant in Sydney called Three Blue Ducks in Bronte and now he's looking for a space to open his own place.

We hear you both went to Mexico together and had some interesting dining experiences?

We ate crickets and grasshoppers, although probably the strangest thing we had were agave worms, which you'll have seen in tequila. They have tacos with those in them. The taste wasn't too bad — it tasted a bit like almonds. You'd bite down and it would pop — that was the off-putting thing — knowing there was a worm in your mouth. So we had lots of weird stuff but I think the biggest food thing was the street food — it blew us away.

What's your kitchen like?

My home kitchen is amazing. We just moved into a new house and one of the reasons we bought it is because of the kitchen — it's brilliant. The guys who lived here before used to be massive foodies and did a lot of entertaining so they fitted out the kitchen really well. It's got two ovens, a nice big six-hub gas stove, and then we've got an outdoor kitchen with a great big fire pit and Japanese grill over the top, which we cook on.

What do you cook for your family? (Ben is married to Sally and has a daughter, Charlotte, who's almost one.)

I pretty much ask my wife what she wants for dinner when I get home and she rattles off a list of ingredients and I come up with something. She'll think about what she feels like during the day. She may say "I want chorizo, chicken and pineapple" and I have to find a way to make them work! One of the things I'm looking forward to the most is having Charlotte in the kitchen cooking alongside me and being able to teach her about cooking.

What are your must-have kitchen appliances?

My Miyabi knife — it's an extension of me. And stick blenders I think are absolutely brilliant for making purees or soups. And then spatulas — you really shouldn't be in the kitchen without a spatula so you can scrape everything out of the bowl. And wooden spoons and tongs are must-haves as well.

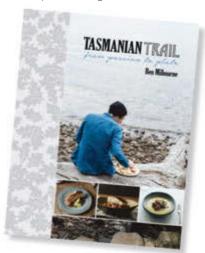

Tell us about your new restaurant.

There's a little vineyard here called Ghost Rock Vineyard and my restaurant, One Degree, is inside the winery. It refers to one degree of separation between consumer and producer. I will know first-hand who produced everything on the menu; the restaurant has that one degree of separation between the person sitting down to eat the meal and the person who grew the food.

What's the kitchen like?

It's not huge; it's a kitchen that is designed for two or three people to work in. It's an open kitchen so people can see what is happening. I reckon if you go too big with a kitchen you end up making more mess.

A smaller kitchen forces you to work clean.

DESIGNER STONE

BEHIND THE BLOCK KITCHENS

The Good Guys kitchen designers worked closely with contestants on The Block: Triple Threat to create their winning kitchen designs. Here, The Good Guys offer an inside look into the current design trends shaping each kitchen

By CARLA MAY

AYDEN AND JESS: MODERN TRADITIONAL

Blending traditional cabinetry with modern conveniences, Ayden and Jess have created a kitchen that is right on trend – achieved by combining Shaker-style doors with state-of-the-art appliances and a large eat-in island. The profiled cabinetry in Stone Grey brings an element of sophistication, and the benchtop in Silestone Lyra adds a natural feel.

The kitchen is a unique layout, which places food preparation, cooking and cleaning areas purposefully within close proximity for optimal functionality.

Deep drawers and plenty of storage appeal, while the inclusion of a hidden butler's pantry adds another level of luxury around the corner.

Jess and Ayden opted for Electrolux appliances throughout their kitchen, which comprise innovative features and hassle-free maintenance.

Breville small appliances and Oliveri taps and sinks are also featured throughout this ultimate cook's kitchen.

DEANNE AND DARREN: URBAN GLAM

Darren and Deanne designed their kitchen to act as the social hub of the home, which was executed through their functional design and stylish palette of white and timber. Their kitchen features an island, impressive wall-mounted ovens and a butler's pantry.

The kitchen island is an entertainer's must-have, doubling as a prep and serving space where the host always remains part of the action.

The integrated Vintec wine fridge ensures drinks are always at the ready, while the Bosch 762-litre French-door fridge offers ample storage.

The Bosch warming drawers are handy for thawing, and keeping food or drinks warm, while the built-in Bosch coffee machine and bank of ovens allows for simultaneous cooking.

To add a further element of elegance, Oliveri sinks and taps were chosen throughout. The mosaic tile splashback together with the dual Silestone benchtops in Cemento Spa and Pulsar offer a glamorous combination of textures.

Although it wasn't all smooth sailing for Daz and Dee, who faced a number of challenges, The Good Guys effectively helped design around these constraints, resulting in a functional, open-plan living space.

TIM AND ANASTASIA: CHIC MONOCHROME

Tim and Anastasia were able to create a modern, sleek kitchen through the use of contrasting colours and textures of black and white, gloss and matt.

This is a great representation of the galley kitchen, as it utilises a smaller space while keeping appliances and workspaces close together for efficiency.

Handleless cabinetry streamlines the kitchen, while the soft greys of the Silestone benchtops in Lagoon help provide tonal variety to balance the monochromatic scheme.

Functionality reigns within this kitchen by sticking to the basics. The expansive offering of natural light and hidden small appliances emphasises the monochromatic and timeless colour scheme.

The biggest challenge was the layout as the space was unconventional. The Good Guys worked with the couple to design a layout that offered ample bench space. Connecting the terrace with bifold windows enables the kitchen to expand into the outdoors, providing a great entertaining solution.

THE MINIMALIST

Josh and Charlotte were able to create a feature-packed kitchen while still maintaining their signature minimalist style – a style that continues to remain on-trend this year. The crisp, white cabinetry offsets the raised cafe-style timber bench and titanium drawer fronts. Subtle marbling through the elegance, while the benchtop, island drawers and timber top add a touch of warmth.

The balance of tall cabinetry at either end allows for a lovely workspace in between, which is beautifully complemented by handleless cabinetry.

Josh and Charlotte wanted greater functionality through elements such as which create the perfect breakfast bar. With a seamlessly integrated fridge and a gas and ceramic cooktop, ultimate flexibility was achieved.

Open space was a design priority for Josh and Charlotte. The finished product successfully reflects this, resulting in a kitchen that is ideal for cooking, working, socialising and entertaining.

Q: Did you know ... plumbing moves can significantly increase the price of your bathroom renovation?

A: Working with your bathroom designer, first assess the current layout of the bathroom. It may be that the main items are in a workable location but the look and feel of the bathroom needs to be updated. If you can get away with making none — or only a few — plumbing moves, you could save yourself valuable dollars to put towards a "must-have" item.

Q: Did you know ... smaller bathrooms are harder to design than larger bathrooms?

A: The bathroom is often the smallest room in the house and the constrained size of this room makes it a challenge for even the most talented and qualified bathroom designer. When working with a small space, it's vital to make every centimetre work in your favour. Your designer will be able to come up with a range of space-saving and space-maximising ideas to ensure you end up with a room that functions efficiently. Be aware that a smaller bathroom does not necessarily mean a smaller price, even though this may sound logical. You'll still need the same number of tradespeople and in a more confined space it can be harder to work so they'll often need to come in one at a time, which can add to the schedule. Coordinating the trades schedule is often more complicated in a smaller bathroom.

Q: Did you know ... today's bathrooms benefit from the latest technology?

A: From toilets that save on water, showerheads that power their own LED lights, under-floor heating, no-fog mirrors, in-wall or in-shower speakers and so much more, the technological advances in bathroom products is astounding. And there are new products designed and released all the time. Ask your bathroom designer about how to incorporate this new technology into your bathroom. If you are interested in environmentally friendly options, there is a wealth of new products your designer can recommend to meet your aesthetic needs as well as look after our diminishing resources

Q: Did you know ... managing trades takes an experienced professional to ensure the schedule is adhered to?

A: In almost every bathroom renovation, tradespeople can only work one at a time, meaning delays with one trade can blow out the entire schedule. Unless you've project managed a bathroom renovation before, it can be tricky to book in and manage all the different services — and there can be up to 10 separate tradespeople to keep track of! There will always be some re-jigging of work as the things progress — in particular if unforseen challenges are encountered — and here's where using a professional bathroom renovator with a builder's licence can save you time and money.

Q: Did you know ... lighting design and placement is crucial to the success of your bathroom's new design?

A: Because we use the bathroom for so many different functions, we require different levels and types of lighting at different times — specific lighting for particular tasks, general lighting and mood lighting. Most bathrooms will have at least one source of natural light and the amount of light within the room will, of course, change during the day. So it's vital the placement of a variety of light sources is well planned to ensure the appropriate type of light is available when needed. For example, you should never have a light source behind you when applying makeup as this will affect the clarity of your view. Make sure you discuss the varying needs of all the family members who will be using the bathroom with your designer to guarantee a great result.

TRIED & TESTED

Step aside Thermomix! Tefal and KitchenAid have recently released their all-in-one cookers, reportedly rivalling the Thermomix. But is newer really better? We put Thermomix and its competitors to the test to find out who comes out on top By CARLA MAY

THE OVERVIEW

This Tried & Tested was the hardest one to write. It wasn't that the cookers were confusing, but that they all seemed to revolutionise my life. They gave me the freedom to cook healthy, fresh meals in no time, which is great for someone who is time-poor.

These appliances give users the ability to cook in an easy, set-andforget fashion, while also allowing for ultimate creativity using manual modes – even enabling the adaptation of non-cooker-specific recipes.

Price is one of the few major points of difference. While Tefal and KitchenAid are making all-in-one cookers more accessible, the Thermomix has experience on its side with more development. These new kids might rival the Thermomix one day, but maybe not yet.

While it was hard to judge between the cookers, I think the real win is the way they get fresh meals back in the kitchen.

Here's the verdict:

THE OLD FAVOURITE

A true all-in-one cooker, the Thermomix has everything accessible via a digital display screen. Its blades are efficient, delivering a perfect job every time. Cooker, measuring cup, easy-access lid, scales, guided recipe book

- it's all in-built, with the Varoma making the whole cooking process fast and simple. You can cook up is almost

unlimited recipes on a manual mode or you can utilise the appliance's cutting-edge automatic mode comprising a guided cooking process. Using a microchip database, you are taken step-by-step through your chosen recipe, with a few recipes being 100 per cent set-and-forget, such as Thermomix's famous custard. Although the Thermomix is sold via direct selling, it's helpful to have a Thermomix professional show you how to get the most out of the appliance - it beats reading a manual! Having been developed over a number of years, the Thermomix TM5 is a leader in its field.

Thermomix TM5, $2089, thermomix.com.au Rating: 5/5

THE THREE-COURSE

The Tefal Cuisine Companion may be a little smaller with a simplified control panel, but it has the same capabilities as its competitors and for a cheaper price - a plus if you are looking for a more economical option. Like the KitchenAid, it comes with a similar-sized bowl, a lid that allows ingredients to be added while cooking and an array of attachments for cooking, mixing, whipping, chopping and more at the touch of a button. Within 20 to 30 minutes, you can make fresh meals, with minimal clean up. The accompanying recipe book is where this machine really comes into its own. Tefal provides an invaluable resource for creating weekly food plans or three-course meals for entertaining. The book comprises one million meal variations through a handy flipbook that lets you choose from starters, mains and desserts. Yet, you don't have to stop there. You can use the machine's automatic programs for easy meals or a manual mode by setting temperature, time and speed.

Tefal Cuisine Companion, $1699, cuisine companion.com.au Rating: 4/5

THE ARTISAN CHEF

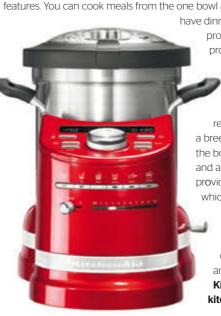

The KitchenAid Cook Processor is a style statement, offering a vintage-inspired gem with plenty of functionality to follow. The Cook Processor definitely delivers on its advertised features. You can cook meals from the one bowl and within 20 to 30 minutes, you can > have dinner on the table – which would suit young professionals and busy families. With its pre-set programs, pulse, speed control, heat settings, start and pause options, assorted attachments and steamer baskets, and a comprehensive cookbook, this appliance has everything you need with relatively simple instructions. Clean up is a breeze with the cooking process only requiring the bowl, measuring utensils, scales, a knife and a chopping board. The Cook Processor also provides a handy app with all its recipes included, which easily enables KitchenAid to develop its recipe database in future. However, with quite a few attachments and a heavier, larger unit than its two counterparts, it does require a decent amount of bench and storage space.

TOP-FIVE KITCHEN APPLIANCE INNOVATIONS

Appliances these days come with so many features, it's hard to know what you're actually buying. Here's our pick of the five best large-appliance features that will make your life easier

HEALTHY HOODS

Keep your kitchen clean and healthy with an ionising rangehood that eliminates odours and sanitises the air as you cook. This green technology is environmentally friendly and purifies the kitchen of more than just cooking fumes, greatly improving the wellbeing of your home.

Twister E.ion rangehood, $3883, falmec.com.au

ECO-FRIDGE

Reduce your energy bills and carbon footprint with the new range of environmentally friendly refrigerators available. These fridges feature eco-modes that automatically adjust the cooling based on the amount of food in the fridge, and reduce energy when it is not being used, thus preserving food for longer and creating less impact on the environment.

COOKTOP BOOSTER

When you are cooking on the clock, waiting for pots and pans to heat and boil can cost precious time. A boost function instantly boils water and heats pans quickly and efficiently to save cooking time. EHI965BA, $4269, electrolux.com.au

European filtered water systems now in Australia

Filtered water jugs have been a part of Australian family kitchens for many years. But did you know there's now a more convenient way to enjoy the benefits of filtered water at home? Thanks to European designs and technology, you can have great-tasting filtered water at your fingertips simply by turning on your kitchen tap.

Cleaner, Clearer, Better,

Water is such a fundamental part of food preparation, it isn't surprising it can influence the results of your cooking at home. The good news is nowadays there is a cost effective filtering solution available that enhances the flavour and brings out the best in your food. Designed and made in Europe, the BRITA 3-Way Filter Tap is simple to install and use.

Restaurateur and MasterChef judge, Gary Mehigan has owned and used a BRITA 3-Way FilterTap in his home and he has seen the difference for himself. "Filtered water is perfect for bringing out the full potential of your dishes and tastes great for everyday drinking water as well." says Mehigan.

3-Way Filter Tap Features:

- · Stylish European design
- · Cost effective, easy to install
- Innovative 3-Way FilterTap allows filtered or unfiltered water
- Filter change reminder
- Kit includes water filter, all components and a BRITA 3-Way FilterTap

How it works

The BRITA 3-Way Filter Tap comes with everything you need to install yourself. You don't have to drill into your kitchen bench top — it simply replaces your existing tap. The result is great tasting water at your fingertips whenever you want with one lever for filtered water and another for unfiltered hot/cold water.

SPACE SAVING

When space is limited, going up is one of the most common ways to create storage. Here are some ideas for making the most of overhead and tall cabinets

ALL CABINETS AND PANTRIES

When storing items in high and deep cabinets, use slide-outs to improve access, although you still might need to use a foot stool. Any pull-out system will prevent having to reach to the back of the cabinet. A

TOP-THREE STORAGE TIPS

1. Your budget

Mechanisms can be expensive so do your research. Consider DIY installation as some of the featured solutions can be retro-fitted.

2. Check specifications

All mechanisms have weight limits. Find these out from the supplier to prevent overloading, which may void warranties.

3. The design process

If access is an issue, address them up front to prevent expensive renovations later on. transparent base, such as wire, will provide visibility from below

OVERHEAD CABINETS

Slide-out plate storage: consider storing plates in overhead cabinets as they work well in shallow spaces (pictured). This system comes in a range of sizes and can be bottom mounted

CORNER STORAGE

A Lazy Susan can be a functional solution for corner overhead cabinets. Be sure to check suppliers' specifications for minimum cabinet depths.

SPICE RACKS

Mounted to the inside of the door, spice racks are a simple and inexpensive way of creating easy access. The internal shelves can be cut back, to prevent the spice rack hitting the shelf when closed. These racks also provide visibility of stored items.

DROP-DOWN STORAGE

Drop-down systems (pictured) are ideal for storing a range of small items that don't exceed five kilograms in total weight. It's a great solution for storing everyday objects that you constantly need to access.

DESIGNER VALUE

Want to renovate your bathroom but don't know where to begin? KBDi bathroom designers highlight popular trends that will inspire your next bathroom renovation and discuss the benefits of hiring a Certified Designer

By SHAUNA O'CARROLL

Renovating your bathroom can be a huge investment of your time, energy and finances, so it's imperative that the job is done perfectly — from the initial design concept, right through to construction and the finishing touches. From knowing the trends to implementing unique ideas, engaging a specialist bathroom designer is essential in guaranteeing a successful project.

A professional designer can turn impossible ideas into a beautiful reality, and offer invaluable advice and experience to create your dream haven.

"A bathroom professional can take care of the bathroom design right through to construction and project management," says 2014 KBDi Bathroom Designer of the Year SA award-winner, Jordan Smith.

"They take full responsibility for the project and ensure the renovation will be a success."

Like any complete renovation, it is hard to expect the unexpected. With the help of a professional designer, unforeseen and unplanned setbacks can be handled efficiently and innovatively.

"Allow for the unexpected — we often can't tell what's underneath a tile floor until it's pulled up," says Certified Bathroom Designer, John Spiteri.

Choosing a professional designer means you will always have the best on-trend bathroom designs, fittings and fixtures, guaranteeing better functionality and enjoyment in the end result. This year, designers are noticing a shift from open and double showers to an even more luxurious design: a double bathroom where each user has their own space.

"This is becoming more popular as users get older and want the lifestyle advantages of their own space for private time," says John.

A development in the shape and material of bathtubs means that the classic freestanding bath will always be popular due to its sense of relaxation and opulence. Large-format tiling, engineered and natural stone and melamine are also growing in popularity for bathroom surfaces, as well as renovations embracing interesting materials not usually seen in bathrooms. Developments in design technology are resulting in exquisitely designed bathrooms that reflect the needs, wants and personalities of the owners.

"Constant development in acrylic panelling means that it is gaining in momentum and popularity for use in splashbacks, shower areas and walls," says Certified Bathroom and Kitchen Designer, Katrina Luxton.

"Clever shower heads are also very popular — people like the new technology being applied in this area to provide lighting, audio and a range of showering options," adds John.

So what's the ultimate advice these designers can offer for surviving a bathroom renovation?

"Be realistic with your project time frames," says Jordan.
"Bathroom renovations can last anything from three to eight weeks, depending on your scope of work."

"A bathroom design does not reach its full potential until all the elements are in place. When you are living with a renovation, do not judge it until it is finished!" adds Katrina.

BEAUTIFUL CURVES

"Sophisticated, dynamic and alluring, this ultra-modern kitchen is an amazing visual feature in the clients' open-plan home. The curved black rear wall complements a recurring design feature found throughout the Brighton property, while the integral finger-pulls accentuate flow to give a sleek handle-free look. Entertaining becomes a theatrical event, with the state-of-the-art cooking station in full view of the dual-level T-shaped island bench and casual dining table. The curves of the Corian benchtops and pendant lights echo that of the rear wall, the contrasting white finish delivering visual impact. To create an ergonomically perfect kitchen, each functional element was thoughtfully placed to ensure an efficient cooking environment. The rear wall discreetly houses an impressive butler's pantry — an essential ingredient for a true entertainer's kitchen. The result is a visually stunning design that combines the best in function and form."

Custom-designed, custom-made, for those expecting excellence.

From the drawing-board to the drawing-room, experience the personal service and expertise you deserve.

Peter is a certified kitchen and bathroom designer. He will visit your home to discuss your kitchen renovation and specific requirements as quality and functionality are of paramount importance. We take into account all the factors necessary to ensure our design makes the best use of your space, and suits your lifestyle. We'll measure your space and begin design work for your kitchen, bathroom, laundry, wall unit, entertainment centre, bar or bookcase. Then you'll be presented with superbly crafted, detailed drawings for your approval, in an agreed time, for a modest fee.

Only when you're completely happy with your design layout, do we build at our Victorian manufacturing factory and install it, perfectly.

Our combination of personal service, kitchen design ideas, cabinet or cupboard making skills and installation expertise is second to none. It's been our recipe for success for more than 30 years. It guarantees you'll be more than satisfied with the result. Furthermore, unlike the majority of cabinet-makers, Peter Gill is a Registered Building Practitioner member. Another reason you can rest assured all our work is absolutely guaranteed, no ifs, no buts.

The result is a kitchen that is designed to be easier, and safer to work in. You'll have a more efficient kitchen which is a joy to cook for family meals and entertaining. And of course your new kitchen will look as good as it cooks.

To see your dream kitchen design or another area of your home become a reality, start with a visit to our showroom and meet our expert team. Alternatively, call us and arrange a time for Peter to visit your home.

Good taste in kitchens starts with the right ingredients. At Kitchens by Peter Gill, you'll find them all. Now, imagine the kitchen you've always wished for, we'll make it come true.

VACATION STATION

"I wanted to capture the spacious flow and clean lines of water with this design, which happened to meld very well with the client's desire to have a kitchen with a resort-like atmosphere — a sort of holiday at home. To that end, I used only the best kitchen hardware, which not only epitomises luxury but also maximises the available storage space. Built-in handles form a seamless facade to the lower bank of drawers and upper cabinets, creating a beautiful flow to the design, which literally lights up when the highly reflective gloss-lacquer outer is illuminated by the recessed LED downlights. To enhance the opulence, only top-quality stainless-steel appliances were used. I wanted to take the resort feel up a notch and also installed a state-of-the-art Miele coffee maker, so quick, flavoursome brews can be enjoyed over the island bench that was placed to showcase the view from the large upper-storey window. From this window, the eye is drawn to the beautifully quirky bubble-cluster light fixed over the bench, across the delicate string of bubble pendant lights to the aquarium opposite, where the ultimate resort statement is made. Who needs to leave the home to enjoy a relaxing holiday?"

FUTURE CLASSIC

"Previously, this kitchen was worn-out, dated and in need of a major overhaul. As it had dark benchtops and splashbacks, it felt small, and fixtures such as the handles did nothing to help. However, the layout was good, so we based our plans for a new, streamlined design around this, which also allowed the owner to keep the existing terracotta flooring. A key feature is the use of state-of-the-art internal hardware such as electronic drawers. These ensure that drawers are not left open and help the owner, who often entertains, cook with ease in a busy household. Similarly, integrated appliances enhance the futuristic look, while a touch of luxury was maintained with the use of chunky Calacatta marble for the benchtops, which, with waterfall ends, add a grand statement. Integration between the kitchen and living area was important, so we designed cabinets to bring both rooms together. A bigger pantry space as well as a dedicated recycling area completed this impressive project."

"The clients wanted to modernise and create a stunning and unique space that was different from a standard kitchen. We offered total support throughout the whole project to provide them with the space they wanted. The original tiled floor was removed and replaced with contemporary, solid timber for a natural, stylish look. The cabinetry has a neutral Emporite finish and extends to the ceiling, with custom-made corner moulding to match. We designed the space so it could hold a strong, built-in rangehood that would suit the clients' love of cooking. The beautiful and classic white quartz marble adds gloss and luxury to the space, while a splash of colour is achieved through the light-blue glass splashback and bottom of the island bench. MODERN TEXTURES in St Kilda and wanted to use this design inspiration to update their classic 1970s kitchen to a contemporary space. A variety of different textures and surfaces were used to create a unique kitchen reminiscent of a cafe, with an interesting mix of stone, glass and wood. These materials complement and contrast with each other to create a visually stunning and distinctive space. The neutral white palette is given a pop of colour with the Starfire glass splashback, adding a modern edge to the rustic timberlook floor tiles. Added cabinetry and bench space provide extra storage and room for meal preparation, while unique accessories inject personality into the kitchen and give it a homely feel. The pressed-metal splashback adds an interesting vintage twist to the otherwise contemporary update."

ALFRESCO ENTERTAINING

"The clients wanted a kitchen that was luxurious and inviting, but still suitable for practical use and entertaining. The kitchen was moved to the rear wall to fit the patio doors, which provide access to the gorgeous alfresco area. This allows people to mingle between the kitchen and outside, and a large island bench further opens up the room. The beautiful granite benchtop is dramatic and stunning, and is the visual focal point of the space. The mirrored splashback was used to bring the outside in and enable the cook to interact with family and friends. A small bar was created at the end of the kitchen to integrate the kitchen with the alfresco area and provide access to drinks, while the innovative roll-up appliance cabinet was designed to accommodate the microwave and other small appliances. LED lighting and hanging pendant lights reflect off the mirrored splashback for effective task lighting, providing the finishing touch." Design by: Kitchens by Peter Gill

OVER 40 YEARS IN THE BUSINESS

DOUBLE LIFE

"This kitchen epitomises the indoor/outdoor dream. It was created to replace a very tired 1980s-style room and while a modern design was the owner's brief, they also wanted to keep a hint of French provincial style about the room. The most important feature of this creation is the way the bifold window and door join to the benchtop when closed. How the track window would sit in the benchtop was a design challenge, but one which was easily met by our experienced team. This element works to extend the kitchen perfectly towards the outdoor barbecue area, which is an amazing space in the summer months. A roof-mounted rangehood, oversized fridge, high-quality drawer fittings and white benchtops complete the look."

BACKLIT BEAUTY

"In true contemporary style, this kitchen features gloss, lineal styling juxtaposed with textural timber veneer finishes. It boasts a separate bar area incorporating an eye-catching translucent acrylic backlit panel and floating glass overhead shelves, creating an atmospheric space to share a drink with friends. The custom-printed glass splashback is dramatic and interesting, adding intrigue to the space. The cabinets feature slick, handleless styling, with many large-format drawers providing highly functional storage, and a bifold appliance cupboard maintains the clean lines of the design. By contrast, the textural timber veneer finishes and printed glass splashback give an organic counterpoint to the otherwise lineal style of the kitchen. This unique space reflects the contemporary and individual style of the clients, while providing them with function and durability for years to come."

DEEP REFLECTION

"Light pours into this sublime kitchen, bouncing off the lustrous textures to create a bright and attractive space, in what was once a dark and dated '70s kitchen. The owners were granted their wish for a modern open-plan room where they could cook, eat and entertain. The renovation started with the removal of a partition wall and brick bar, and merging the separate kitchen and dining areas into one room. A dramatic 80mm-thick suspended benchtop connects the space. The ultra-high-gloss finish on the cabinetry doors unites with the striking Caesarstone benchtop to reflect natural light and add depth to the room. Clean lines and an uncluttered feel were essential for this modern design so we chose Blum SERVO-DRIVE handles on the drawers and overhead cabinets. Black highlights on the mirror glass splashback, open cabinet and glass display work with black V-ZUG appliances to amplify the kitchen's sense of style."

INDOOR-OUTDOOR

"The perfect balance between indoors and out is achieved with this contemporary, unique kitchen. The length of the space is utilised completely, housing a large, beautiful quartz stone benchtop that is perfect for entertaining family and friends. The warm, brown/grey shade of the benchtop complements the neutral palette of the kitchen and the natural outdoor surroundings. The neutral colour scheme also helps widen the space, and the extensive cabinetry provides ample storage in a clean, seamless design. The glass splashback adds interest and an extra complementary colour to the design, while display shelves house books and personal effects, giving the kitchen personality. To complete the indoor/outdoor flow, a long bifold window allows the outdoor benchtop to be accessed easily when entertaining."

LUXURIOUS FUNCTIONALITY

"The previous kitchen in this high-end apartment was impractical and did not utilise the space (or take advantage of the views it was accorded), which is what we set out to change. The kitchen is separated into three zones to suit the busy lifestyle of the clients, who love to entertain friends and family. The first zone is the main kitchen and living area, which features a pristine white quartz island bench that is great for dining and entertaining. Luxurious details, such as handleless fittings and high-gloss finishes, create a sense of opulence. The second zone is a butler's pantry that features ample shelving and cabinetry for maximum storage. The pantry features plenty of benchtop space for meal preparation and small appliances, housing a wine fridge, oven, sink and microwave. The third zone doubles as a laundry as well as a room for extra storage and has an additional sink and dishwasher, making cleaning an absolute breeze. The kitchen is simplistic yet stunning and maximises functionality, which has transformed it into an exquisite space with spectacular views."

FRESH AND FUNKY

"This glossy, ultra-modern kitchen is in stunning contrast to the heritage industrial warehouse space it resides in. The owners wanted to be adventurous and incorporate some shine and gloss into the kitchen as a backdrop against the bricks and rusted steel of the warehouse. Corian benchtops were thermoformed to create a sensational curved island bench that is a unique focal point of the space. The elegant mirrored splashback stands out against the raw, massive steel beams, columns and the exposed exhaust pipes. An abundance of natural light flows through the kitchen. With no need to further enhance the amount of light coming into the space, different colours and finishes were used to create the owner's desired contemporary style, such as pops of glossy red and woodgrain laminate. The waterfall bench, combined with a confident mixture of materials, sets it apart from other kitchens."

LIGHTEN UP

"This beautifully crafted kitchen fuses an enticing mix of cool accents, warm overtones and natural light. High-gloss white surfaces stretch seamlessly around the kitchen, hiding a multitude of drawers and cupboards. Sweeping Caesarstone benchtop surfaces blend effortlessly to create a clean, modern look. In bold contrast, the contemporary smoky grey tones of the overhead cabinetry invite the eye into the space. This kitchen is truly set apart by its windowed splashback — a clever design element that brings the outside in to add visual interest and natural light. Pantry racks, LeMans corner units and ample storage space satisfy the owners' desire for a practical design without compromising on the striking minimalist appeal."

AMERICAN GRACE

"The homeowner worked closely with me to produce a kitchen that could grace the elegant mansions of America's Deep South. The doors were custom made and designed with a raised centre panel and ornate bolection moulding to replicate the sumptuous appearance of a kitchen from the plantation era. The dentil moulding and mantlepiece were also custom made to the client's specific design requests. The grand centrepiece is the island, with its 150mm fluted panelled columns and 60mm curved timber bench ends. Smith & Smith hand selected the blackwood timber to ensure the beautiful island benchtop could be manufactured without joins in the overall length. The cabinetry encasing the refrigerator, pantry and oven tower is enclosed by full-height fluted columns adorned with decorative bullseyes. This ornate panelling was also incorporated into a matching entertainment unit, which was custom-built by Smith & Smith."

TO THE COUNTRYSIDE

"Classic touches and rustic materials complement each other to create this stunning kitchen. The owners were inspired by the picturesque Australian countryside and wanted to inject their kitchen with this rural design influence. Open shelving and glass cabinet doors provide storage for decorative items and personal keepsakes that bring the personality of the owners to the forefront. The cabinetry features a light-green Emporite finish that is bright and homely. The glass splashback in orange adds a modern edge to the space, the colour contrasting well with the green cabinetry and timber materials. Beautiful rustic charm is achieved through the timber accents of the island and cabinetry. All in all, this family-friendly kitchen is warm and welcoming, and truly reflects the personality of the owners."

EUROPEAN MARVEL

"The layout of this kitchen was completely changed to create a functional and bright space with ample storage. The design is based on European-style kitchens with natural elements. Natural stone marble was chosen to highlight the inspired curved look of the kitchen and to create a sense of luxury. The understated white and grey tones of the stunning marble benchtop complement the marble tile splashback and have a distinct European feel. The extensive cabinetry provides more than enough storage and was painted in an antique white finish to suit the colour scheme of the kitchen and reflect the natural light. The black island bench stands out and was designed as the feature of the space. The layout maximises storage and creates a natural flow for meal preparation and entertaining."

CONTEMPORARY CHARACTER

"Improved storage, function and aesthetics were the main points of the brief from the owners of this renovation. They wanted a contemporary twist on a traditional-style kitchen, to be sympathetic to the age of the home. They also wanted to incorporate their favourite colour blue into the design. A new layout was designed to create space for drawers, storage and better interaction with the dining area. The new kitchen feels more open with base and overhead cabinets on the cooktop run unbroken by tall elements and glass overheads, for maximum flow. The angled peninsula bar opens up room for the dining area and provides plenty of bench space for kitchen preparation and use of the breakfast bar. The overall aesthetic of this space is contemporary yet it fits with the warmth and character of the rest of the home."

STEDING INTERIORS & JOINERY

Steding Interiors & Joinery is a business built on a foundation of strong moral principles, high standards and great expectations. With European skill and craftsmanship, our cabinetmakers have the ability to create something that is unique and exquisite.

When you choose a Steding design, you can be sure that it will reflect the personality of the home and the people who live there.

Have your kitchen the way you want it.

You know what you want in your kitchen.

You've probably been thinking about it for months. You can feel it and see yourself in it - having coffee with a friend, catching the smell of the roast as you take it from the oven.

Yet turning those dreams into reality means you need someone who listens to you and understands your needs. Someone who'll plan, design and build your kitchen just the way you want it.

And we care.

Our craftsmen take their time to treat your kitchen as their own. All this with a guarantee that lasts for as long as you live in your home.

So when you want your kitchen, laundry or vanity made just for you, come into our showroom. Or give us a call. You'll be glad you did.

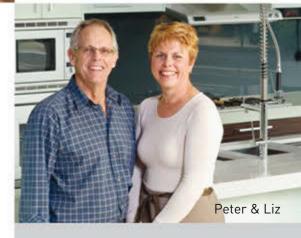

A kitchen that your family and friends will love.

You see, we're concerned about the small things that you may overlook – the way you work, your style of cooking, the decor of your home and so on. The small things that make your kitchen feel and work right for you.

And things that aren't so small. Since 1978 we've been putting your ideas into the best possible kitchen design – one that's planned around you. So now you can have a kitchen that's functional and durable ... and looks absolutely stunning.

A KITCHEN TO TOP

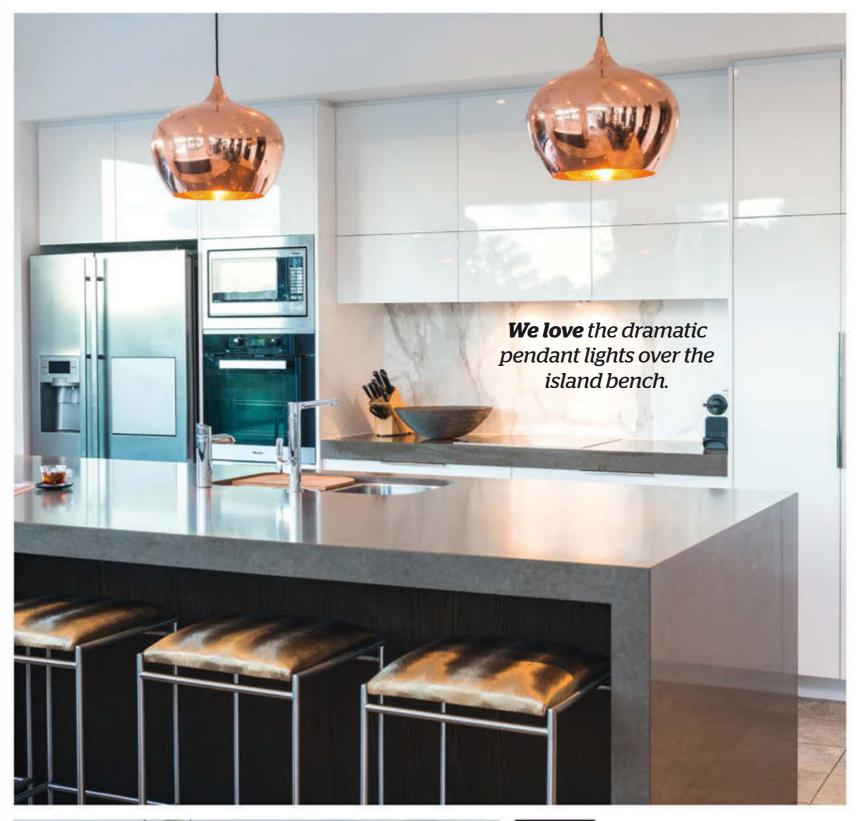

"There's nothing quite like the buzz you get from turning a tired, 10-year-old kitchen into someone's dream design. This project required a complete gutting of the existing space in order to open it up and allow it to become the natural nexus of the home. Knowing how important it was for the client to have a flowthrough area, where all family members and guests have the space to eat and interact, an island bench for both work and play became a necessity. Once the space for this was designated, the rest of the design centred on functionality, storage maximisation and understated style. To enhance functionality, all the most frequently used appliances – the fridge, oven and microwave – were placed in close proximity to each other and to two large benchtops. A wall of white handleless cabinets surrounding the cooktop stretches out to the outer edges of the kitchen area. It allows for more storage and displays a beautifully sleek facade that is perfectly complemented by the rich tones of the natural materials such as timber, marble and stone. To top off this timeless combination of materials, we literally topped the 'kitchen cake' with the addition of three copper-coloured pendant lights over the island bench, which create a wonderfully dramatic effect when lit."

WHITE AND BRIGHT

"Our client wanted a Hamptons-style kitchen with modern functionality and a dedicated area for breakfast and tea and coffee preparation. The purpose-built breakfast/tea and coffee station is easily accessible, but innovatively concealed by a large motorised shutter door. Timber structural posts were encased with plaster and turned into a feature of the kitchen. Combined with mood lighting through LED downlights, our client's special treasures collected over the years have been highlighted, adding a personal touch to the space. FUNCTION FIRST impractical kitchen into a modern and functional one where every centimetre of space can be easily accessed. This was achieved by using a range of internal hardware products such as corner units, drawers inside cabinet doors and a pull-out pantry. And there's storage through the entire island, too. The colour scheme of the rest of the house and the client's love of a clean, white look dictated the mostly white scheme with black accents that tie in with the existing window frames. The ceilings are high so we raised the kickboards accordingly. Raising the island and cabinets higher off the ground makes them seem less bulky and solid. It also makes it really easy to keep the bottom of the cabinets and floor clean. The client loves to cook so it was important for her to have some open shelving to display her cookbooks and have them within easy reach."

THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS: USEFUL AND BEAUTIFUL

A triumph of practicality and style, combining ease of use and contemporary good looks, Tambortech roller doors are an obvious choice for anyone who wants their kitchen to be a perfect blend of good looks and functionality.

Consider the bliss and the beauty of Tambortech Doors. The bliss lies in their easy function. Fingertip control or electronic system, they roll up and down smoothly, quietly and effortlessly. Everything is accessible and close at hand if you need it, but hidden when you don't want to see it

The beauty is in their pure lines, easy-to-clean design and eye-catching range. Eliminating clutter at a touch, when closed they enhance the contemporary, streamlined looks and the concept of the ideal modern kitchen.

How neat. How stunning. How very clever.

We love how the Tambortech doors can slide open without the need to shift items on the countertop.

SPATIAL AWARENESS

"The owners wanted their kitchen to be a beautiful, inviting space for their family and friends to enjoy. It was important for the kitchen to be designed effectively in proportion to the large, adjoining living room, which meant that utilising the height played a significant role in achieving this. Shaker-style cabinets with custom moulding and panels add a traditional touch to the space and provide extensive cabinetry. A butler's pantry was also designed within the kitchen for extra storage and meal preparation space. The large island bench has a visually stunning quartz marble benchtop and is perfect for entertaining and sharing meals, while the herringbone subway tile splashback further enhances the classic style and is an interesting design element. This kitchen has a nice balance of form and function for a family who loves to cook and entertain."

MODERN INNOVATION

"The brief from the owners asked for an inviting, modern kitchen with an amazing island bench, which we have definitely achieved. The kitchen uses a mix of colours and hues, including whites, browns and light oranges, to create a warm, neutral palette. The stunning island bench is the focal point of the space and is uniquely designed to suit the cooking needs of the owner. The backlit marblo feature of the bench packs a punch and is a dramatic, interesting design element. The kitchen also features a walk-in pantry that is concealed through custom joinery, creating a sleek and clean design. Designed for high functionality and practical use, extensive cabinetry and soft-close drawers and doors provide plenty of storage and longevity. This kitchen uses contemporary materials and design elements in a unique way to create a space that is innovative, warm, and striking."

PLEASE ENJOY

of all, it's the enjoyment the owners get from it. To make what was such a dark room with no character look spectacular was a challenge but now with the large opening in the brick wall, everyone wants to step into the kitchen the moment they enter the house. This was important to the owners, as they wanted a space they would not only enjoy themselves but where they could also entertain guests. Functionality was also a key consideration, this includes swing-up shelves for heavy appliances, inner drawers to save bending down, slide-out bins and corner mechanisms to utilise those areas that are normally hard to reach. The kitchen is now a central part of the home, with its beautifully flowing natural granite benchtops and a stunning outdoor view of the highlands country."

PERFECT SYMMETRY

"The brief for this renovation asked for a pleasant, timeless kitchen that would suit the owners' family and lifestyle. The space was designed to blend seamlessly with the rest of the newly renovated house and interior finishes of the home. A hidden, large walk-in butler's pantry was designed as requested for meal preparation and extra storage. The island benchtop is the focal point of the kitchen, with a beautiful dark natural stone, and is big enough to incorporate everything on the clients' wish list without overpowering the space. Custom ornate details in the panels and moulding were created to match the fancy cornice throughout the home. The beige subway tile splashback is elegant and subtly enhances the classic theme of the home. This kitchen demonstrates perfect symmetry that flows beautifully."

WINDOW TO THE WORLD

"This beautiful French provincial-style kitchen was designed to be a natural extension and to flow seamlessly with the rest of the home, which had undergone a complete renovation. In the room on the far wall, there is an expansive glass window that overlooks a river. The dual function of the window is to provide a stunning view while opening up the space. The owners' plan for this kitchen project was to create a centrepiece for family life. They wanted attractive, standout features and finishes that would be conversation pieces during regular social events. They also wanted to provide enough space around the large windows so their family and friends could gather to enjoy the scenery. This has been achieved by creating defined zones between the kitchen and windowed areas, while keeping the room open-plan to allow flow between the spaces. A striking feature in the room is the dark granite benchtop around the cooktop, on the study nook and on the island. The granite provides warmth, texture and contrast against the white cabinetry while also complementing the timber tones of the floor. The beautifully made island bench works as a spacious hub where friends and family can gather to prepare meals and socialise. Another conversation piece is the ornate rangehood, which completes the design. This kitchen also fulfils a practical purpose with the abundance of storage space within intricately crafted cabinets. With a neutral colour palette, this handcrafted kitchen exudes an understated elegance that allows the view to remain the focus."

"A bold splashback as well as a display area, lots of storage and plenty of drawers were on the list of important features for this kitchen. We spent a lot of time considering the design, and a key decision was to use two benchtop materials, not only to add a variation in levels to the kitchen, but also to avoid a join. The benchtop has a shadowline finish for a sleek look. The turquoise glass splashback and bamboo feature tops and shelves provide a pleasing mix of colour, while the combination of spot and pendant lighting allows different atmospheres to be created. A polished concrete floor keeps things contemporary, and the Laminex doors and panels proved the ideal choice for this modern beauty."

SPRING DREAMING

"It's spring every day in this quirky, retro kitchen with its bright Kermit-green-and-white colour scheme. Picking up on the original '50s Art Deco style and amplifying it, we have created a new classical style with the kitchen's sensuously curved features and overhead details. A new open-plan kitchen was designed, blending an extension with the existing kitchen, to create a more relaxed place to entertain friends and the clients' very large extended family. Open storage displays retro canisters and useful decorative items, while all the mod cons, including twin pull-out recycling bins, are cleverly concealed. Ample space is provided through the island side of the kitchen bench, which has a hide-away access door for additional storage. Old and new are blended seamlessly for a kitchen that is bold, bright and family friendly."

"The clients wanted to create a functional family kitchen with a seaside living vibe. Materials were chosen to create a sleek, seamless aesthetic and to make the kitchen durable enough for the family as well as for entertaining. Designed as a galley kitchen, the space features ample storage with a butler's pantry and extensive cabinetry. A feature wall of kitchen panelling creates interest and conceals the pantry access and integrated fridge. The unique island design provides a lowered seating area and has a beautiful off-white quartz stone benchtop. THE NEW TRADITIONAL "Modern and traditional style blend seamlessly together in

"Modern and traditional style blend seamlessly together in this gorgeous, spacious kitchen. A wall was removed from the previous kitchen to provide more space and storage. Existing white joinery was matched with new white joinery and Shaker doors for a traditional twist in the contemporary space. Classic moulding and cornices are highlighted through the primarily white colour palette and add to the traditional style. The all-white cabinetry is broken up through the contrasting black granite benchtop, polished timber floor and timber accents. Modern chrome taps and handles adorn the traditional cabinetry, creating a classic contemporary look. The traditional theme is completed with the white bevelled-edge tile splashback."

HEART OF THE HOME

"With four kids in the house, it was important that the kitchen be durable and easy to keep clean. That was part of the reason for the dark woodgrain finish for the cabinets. The other reason was to provide a nice contrast with the light-grey tiled flooring, white walls, benchtop and overhead cabinets. The metallic glass splashback ties in nicely with the floor tiles and stainless-steel appliances while adding another dimension to the design. It was also important to have a large island to allow for both casual dining and food preparation, as it is the main benchtop space. Having the stone waterfall on only one end of the bench allows plenty of seating to wrap around the other end and along the front. The stone overhang adds some interest and changes the shape of the island from the typical solid rectangle. It helps remove some of the bulk, considering its size. There are plenty of drawers to make the most of storage space, plus a large pantry located just off the kitchen behind a cavity sliding door."

MODERN HERITAGE

"The owners wanted to renovate the rear of their house to create a light-filled and contemporary kitchen and living area. My brief was to design the kitchen in a modern style with sleek, clean lines to create a room that is functional, easy to clean and perfect for entertaining. A striking architect-designed timber bulkhead defines the kitchen space and adds warmth to the room, complementing the new polished timber floor. I chose a galley-style design facing the living/dining space with a split-level benchtop to hide the usual kitchen clutter around the sink. Raised cabinets on the dining side provide useful storage for dinnerware, while the lower end of the bench becomes a handy breakfast bar. Handleless cabinets all around contribute to the neat, clean look. The result is a modern twist to a charming heritage home, creating a sleek, functional space yet with a warm, cosy feel."

HOLIDAY ENTERTAINER

"The owners wanted a beautiful, light kitchen where they could cook meals for family and friends while entertaining them with views of the water and family boat. The space uses a white colour scheme with black and dark brown accents that are stylish and contemporary. Integrated appliances create clean, seamless lines and dramatic pendant lights bring a unique and eye-catching design element to the minimalist space. The island unit is designed to view the water, and the amount of natural light that comes in from the windows reflects the water in the stunning stone splashback. Materials are used in their rawest form to utilise the natural environment effectively and highlight the serene, relaxing scenery."

"A large space that is both light and modern was the brief for this contemporary kitchen. The clients wanted a large kitchen with ample storage, as well as a dining and study area to suit the needs of their family. The modern grey-and-white colour scheme opens the room and is beautifully accented with light timber that adds interest. The dark grey tile splashback is elegant and complements the space. Extensive windows brighten up the room with natural light, while stylish white pendant lights provide light in the evening. Simple silver-handle wares create a sense of minimalism and uniformity. The long island bench provides extensive space for dining, work and entertaining and has plenty of storage."

RUSTIC TRADITION

"The owners wanted a warm, inviting kitchen that would suit their growing young family, but could still be used for entertaining. The kitchen was relocated to the back of the house to take advantage of the water views and have access to a large new deck. As the owners regularly host functions, a separate butler's pantry was essential in creating adequate storage and preparation space. The stripped, exposed brickwork is the defining classic feature of the space and influenced the selection of the pared-back Shaker-style cabinets, exposed sliding door and rustic pendant lights. The use of decorative moulding under the benchtop enhances the traditional look of the marble-effect quartz benches, while the softness and warmth of the stripped brickwork makes the kitchen a welcoming space for family and friends. The spectacular water views add luxury to this classic-style kitchen with rustic architectural features."

WAREHOUSE WONDER

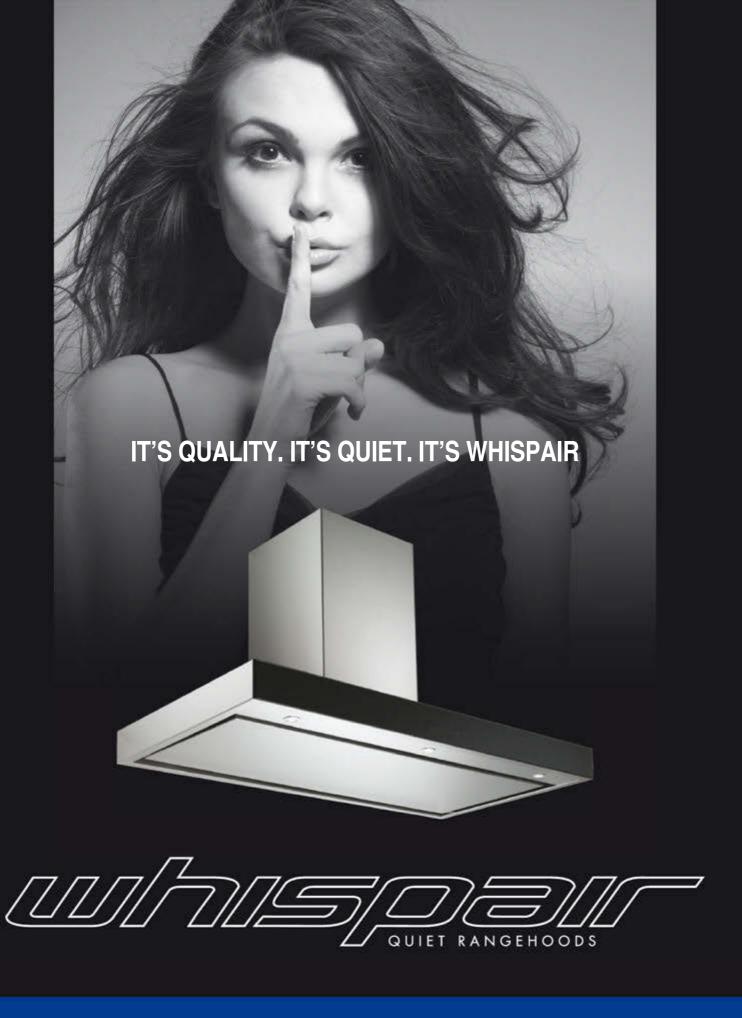

"The kitchen is truly the focal point of this impressive warehouse conversion in Sydney's inner west. Every element of the expansive kitchen has been meticulously designed with the size, scale, material and colour choices in keeping with the industrial elements of the open-plan home. The bold colour scheme, predominantly matt-black cabinetry and Caesarstone Sleek Concrete benchtops, is softened by the book-matched Calacatta marble splashback, custom-made Broadline glass in the upper cabinetry and the washed herringbone flooring. The matt-black cabinetry seamlessly continues in the butler's pantry, where it is teamed with Fenix Super Matt Black benchtops and mirrored splashbacks to reflect the space and light. Black pendant lights and taps along with copper handles and brass-framed kitchen stools provide the finishing details to this visually striking entertainer's kitchen."

Design by: Sydney Kitchens

SYMMETRICAL DELIGHT

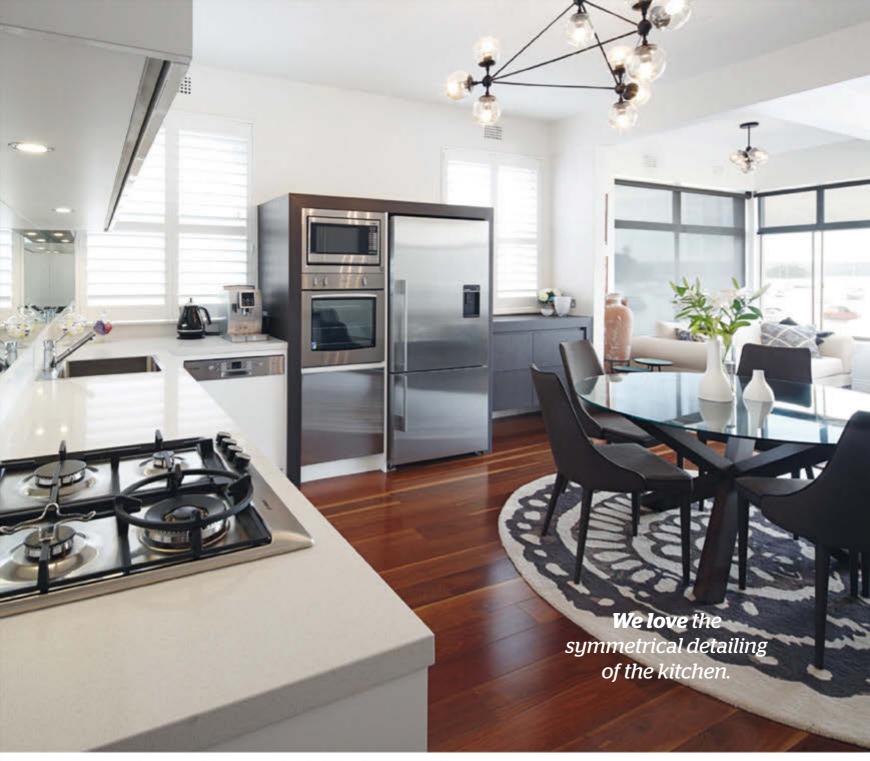

"This kitchen was opened up to provide a warm, inviting and family-friendly space for entertaining and meals. The mirror splashback was used to expand the space and reflect the water views into the room between symmetrical white silk-finish cabinets. Uniquely designed pendant lights add warmth and are an interesting visual feature. The unconventional yet modern encasing of the fridge and oven tower makes it the main feature of the room and allows more space for storage. The use of a two-tone colour scheme creates a modern contrast, along with a sense of luxury from the use of thick-panel laminate. A horizontal pantry in the form of drawers under the window provides additional storage in conjunction with the cabinets that reach the ceiling. This kitchen uses a number of unique touches to create a contemporary and interesting space."

HAMPTONS ELEGANCE

"We're finding the Hamptons style increasingly popular at the moment, such as in this home where we were brought in to design the kitchen as well as the bathroom vanities, fireplace and cabinetry in the living room and laundry. In the kitchen, the key design features include the recessed cabinets and panels, plus the glass French-door cabinets up top. A large canopy frames the cooking area and freestanding oven — this is typically the focal point of a Hamptons-style kitchen with symmetrical cabinets either side in perfect balance. The sheer size of the island, along with its dark panels and thick marble top, make it a standout feature that comfortably seats four. The black-and-white colour scheme, together with the stone and marble, creates a timeless and elegant look, which is finished off with details such as the older-style taps and handles, butler's sink and light pendants. While the look is classic, it has all the convenience of a modern kitchen with plenty of storage, lots of drawers, hidden pantry, a small-appliance cupboard and internal hardware solutions to make the most of every centimetre of space."

EARTHY ELEGANCE

"The owners were after a contemporary, uplifting kitchen with a premium look and feel, modern style and personality. The kitchen was extended to enhance available storage space and a timber floating shelf was installed as an alternative to traditional wall cabinets. The contrasting textures of raw-looking Spiced Oak cabinets with glossy Charcola cabinets and panels add a unique point of interest to the overall design. The moody colour palette blends with the timber-toned cabinetry, successfully modernising the space and offering an overall sense of warmth. The refreshing laminate benchtop and striking subway tiles adds a pop of white and provides a balance between dark and light, with an almost industrial asthetic. This kitchen stands out because of its modern design, colour scheme, and minimalism."

VICTORIAN CLASS

"Dramatic vintage style is wedded with modern functionality in this captivating bathroom. Building it as part of a major home renovation, the owners wanted to design a space that reflected the property's Federation heritage without being over the top and fussy. A traditional claw-foot tub with floor-mounted tap was chosen as the centrepiece. Illuminated by elegant pendant lights and long windows, the bathtub creates a chic style statement, while also being perfect for a long, luxurious soak. Every finish and fitting has been hand-selected by the owners to blend seamlessly and create a truly unique space. Charcoal grey wall tiles sit in harmony with satin matt floor tiles, while the rich vanity benchtop is the perfect stage for the charming white basin to shine. The result is a modern chic bathroom that takes your breath away from the moment you enter."

THE MODERN FAMILY

"The clients wanted a light-filled, easy-to-clean, family bathroom and ensuite but with a separate toilet. Allowing for a generous amount of light to brighten the rooms was an important aspect in the design. A skylight was included in the ensuite bathroom as an effective light source since we had a shower at one end of the room and a separate toilet at the other, and we did not want to place a highlight window above the mirror. Similar light-coloured wall and floor tiles help achieve the illusion of a larger space. The floating vanities throughout, mirrored cabinets and bright white and chrome fixtures not only help enhance the sense of space and light within these bathrooms, but also offer a modern yet functional twist."

OPULENT RELAXATION

"This luxurious and sophisticated master suite is part of a complete renovation of the owner's home situated on a beautiful private beach. They wanted a relaxing adult's retreat that made the most of the elevated northerly position overlooking the pool, private beach and beyond to the city skyline. We worked extensively with the owners to make sure the final result was exactly what they wanted. The modern double shower with dual rain showerheads is opulent and open, while the double vanity was custom-made with unique sinks and a high-gloss finish. The large mirror attached to the vanity reflects the bathroom and visually widens it, which also occurs through the strip of mirror above the bath that reflects the vanity mirror. The freestanding oval bath is elegant and the focal point of this relaxing space. The bathroom is completed by a toilet area hidden with a frosted glass door, which helps to keep this zone private while still fitting in with the spacious day spa aesthetic of the room."

TRADITIONAL ELEGANCE

"The original cramped, dated and dark bathroom was given a much-needed update, which started with knocking out the wall between the bathroom and study to create one larger, more user-friendly space. Part of the reason for this was that the clients really wanted to include a separate bath and shower. In keeping with the older style of the home, the Victoria + Albert York freestanding bath has become the focal point of the room. The vanity design looks more like a piece of traditional furniture than a vanity, topped with luxurious marble. Marble tiles were also used for the flooring, to add a real sense of luxury and timeless elegance. A lot of detail went into the wall tiling with a combination of portrait-laid dove grey tiles running along the base of all walls, finished with a border of white capping tiles and gloss subway tiles all the way to the ceiling. The combination of the gloss tiles with the large wall mirror and decorative vanity mirror helps reflect space and light in the room."

PRIVATE HAVEN

"This elegant and spacious ensuite is the pinnacle of private luxury. The owners wanted a modern, relaxing retreat with a classic twist, accommodating for the existing traditional French doors leading to a courtyard. The freestanding stone bath with its modern, sculptured tapware complements the beautiful grey heated ceramic floor tiles. A large double shower behind the bathtub is spacious and boasts a stunning granite tile feature wall. The double towel rails are heated for that little bit of extra luxury. The custom-made classic double vanity with stone basin and large double mirror provides lots of practical storage. Elegant French windows allow natural light to fill the space with a relaxing glow. This bathroom is a stylish mix of modern luxury and classic simplicity that blends together to create the ultimate private haven."

BRIGHT BEAUTY

"The owners wanted a large and luxurious bathroom that was beautiful and easy to maintain. Along with the need for practicality, they had strong ideas on how they wanted the space to look and feel — using unusual colours and materials to create impact, and a neutral palette for the backdrop. Staron® was used in the bathroom space, creating a fuss-free vanity top and shower surface with a seamless application. The vanity top in Quasar White is non-porous and easy to clean. The shower wall and base are installed in one continuous surface with no grout or join lines. The Acrylic Couture shower screen provides an elegant touch. A large entertainer's kitchen was also constructed during this renovation, with a Staron® benchtop in Tempest Confection chosen to complement the neutral tones. An Acrylic Couture Malachite Green splashback and island cladding creates a bold statement. The end result is one that produces a sense of excitement and enjoyment for all who visit the home, and for those who live within it."

CHOOSING YOUR TAPS

In association with Dorf, here are three essential points to consider when choosing tapware.

1. Three-piece or mixer?

Generally, a three-piece provides a more traditional look, while mixers are more contemporary. If you're retrofitting an existing bathroom, you'll need to stick with what you already have — unless you're prepared to re-plumb the in-wall components.

2. Think functional

Consider what your taps will be used for and the type of basin or bath the water will flow into. Do you need a taller tap or a wall-mounted version to fit over an inset or above-counter basin? Perhaps you need a longer spout to extend across to a freestanding bath?

3. Matching matters

Each tap often has a matching family of products, such as showers, basins, toilets and accessories. These have been professionally designed to complement each other and coordinate your bathroom design. If product families aren't for you, choose one feature in your bathroom and select other products to complement it modestly.

SOME USEFUL THINGS TO KNOW

Change is easy

There are many DIY shower options available, so there's no need to stick with your old shower.

Make cleaning simple

By selecting either a hand or rail shower, you can easily keep the shower recess, tiles and walls clean and enjoy the flexibility of having a shower on a hose.

One shower, many options

How do you choose a shower you'll enjoy? These essential tips from Methven and Flexispray will help. 1. Whose shower?

CHOOSING YOUR SHOWER

A great way to start is by thinking about who will use your shower just adults, or children as well? Will you need to adjust the height for each person? Some of us like the feeling of being drenched from an overhead shower, others prefer the focused spray of a hand shower. Think about your preferences and talk to others in your household.

2. Which type?

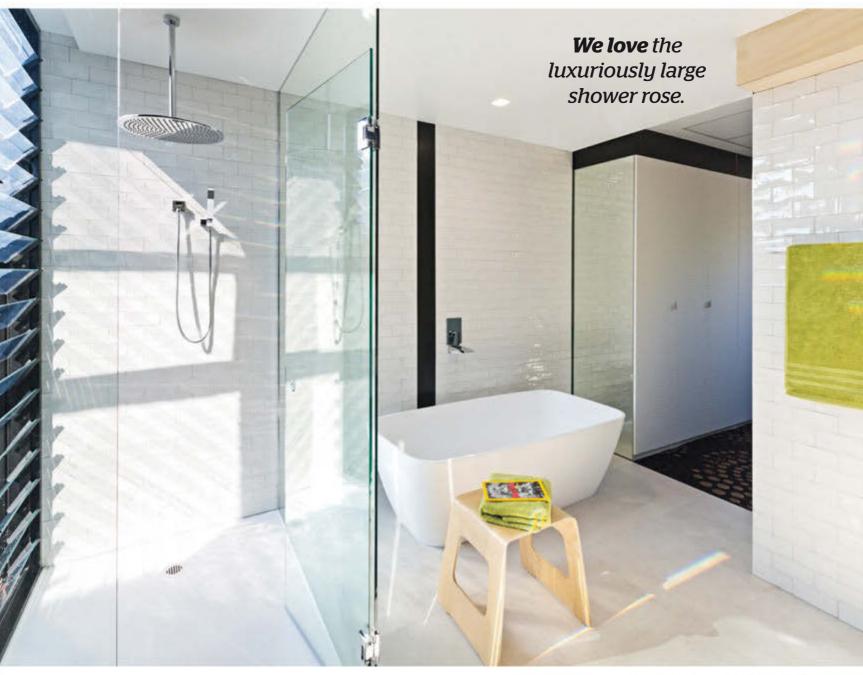

- Wall shower simple but effective. Wall showers on movable arms allow you to direct the spray angle to suit the user's preference.
- Hand shower great for kids and can be angled to suit different heights. A handset on a hose means Mum and Dad can help little ones. It's also great for cleaning. Upgrading to a hand shower is as easy as screwing off the old wall shower and screwing on the new hand shower.

- Rail shower offers all the benefits of a hand shower on a convenient, height-adjustable rail for ultimate control and style.
- Overhead drencher the perfect mix of functionality and modern design. The overhead drencher gives you the sensation of rain falling from the sky.
- Twin shower an overhead drencher and a rail shower in one means you can personalise your shower experience.

3. What type of spray?

Narrow or wide? Soft, hard or somewhere in between? There are a variety of shower spray patterns available. Many showers have more than one spray setting, which you can change at the push of a button.

FIVE-STAR RELAXATION

"This bathroom emanates a beautiful softness in both character and form. When designing his master ensuite, owner and architect, Zig Stelmach, was seeking to evoke the global purism of five-star hotel bathrooms. The ensuite, which flows uninterrupted from the master bedroom, is layered with elements that stimulate the senses and relax the mind. Inside the luxuriously large shower, the rose provides a relaxing bathing experience — as if under a waterfall. The limited-edition bath is gently contoured and is both elegant and simple. Hand-made gloss white subway tiles, with their subtle irregularity, are in harmony with the bathroom's clean lines. Natural light and minimal sound was key in creating a meditative space. Diffused light glows through the blinds, which serves to soften the room and maintain the clean-lined aesthetic. The muted floor tiles ensure there's no clumping of water on the shower base and the extractor fan is entrenched deep within insulation, so only silent air rushes through. Everything is easy to clean, from the sinks to the grouting. The result is a fully immersive experiential space."

FORM AND FUNCTION

Inspired by contemporary perfume bottles the new LINEA luxury shower dispensers are striking in their simplicity. They are both functional and elegant, featuring a contemporary rust-proof brushed-nickel lever for easy push-button convenience and single-handed dispensing.

The clear acrylic chambers are ideal for shampoo, conditioner, body wash or moisturiser and eliminate the usual shower bottle clutter. Dispensers are available in single, double or triple models. Also in the range is the matching LINEA shower basket, for a stylish storage solution, plus the ergonomically designed squeegee, both with stainless-steel trim. Together, the range helps keep the shower clean and organised.

Best of all, LINEA luxury shower accessories can be installed in minutes without drilling or tools. Perfect for DIY installation, all you need is silicone glue and double-sided tape, which are both included. The products also offer the peace of mind that comes with a lifetime limited warranty.

SUPERB TILES

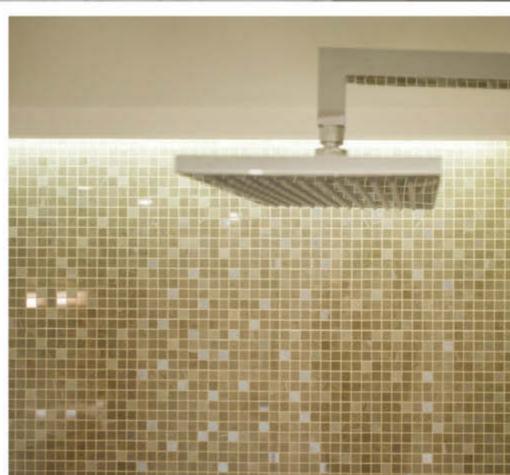

For more than 40 years, Atlas Concorde has been synonymous with strength, ethics and reliability. A benchmark player in the worldwide ceramic tile industry, the company's mission is to provide tiles that combine unique aesthetic appeal with excellent technical performance.

Inspired by the most prestigious marble of Italian tradition, the Atlas Concorde Marvel range offers diversity and high-quality materials.

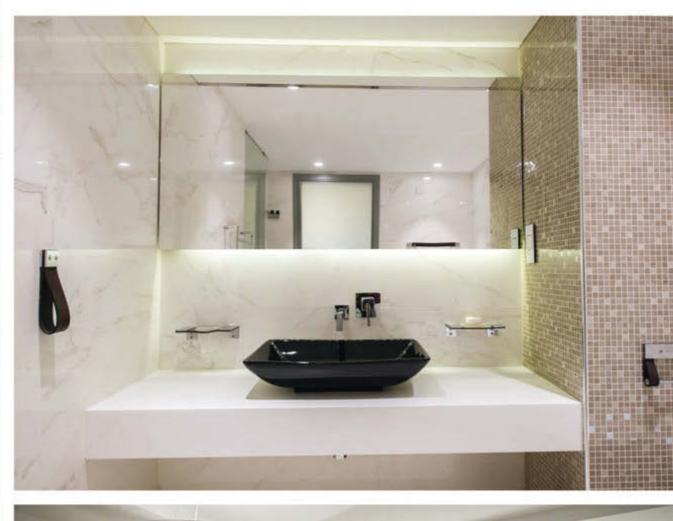

The range is a ceramic project of the highest aesthetic and technical quality. It's characterised by porcelain stoneware floors and coordinated wall cladding. The porcelain stoneware floor tiles recreate the surface of the most sought-after marble with the realism of pure colours, natural veining and transparent shading. The intensity of each colour faithfully interprets the natural marble with the added advantage of a ceramic tile in either a honed or matt finish.

The transparency and depth of Marvel wall tiles are the result of the richness and quality of the glazes used, applied with a special thickness to make the surfaces extremely glossy and reflective.

With refined hues, Atlas Concorde tiles offer the feeling of comfort and luxury.

DISCOVER AN EXQUISITE STONE COLLECTION

Caesarstone's Concetto collection is a daring mix of distinctive beauty and innovative design. Hand-made from individually cut and bound semi-precious stones, the collection is a unique blend of art, nature and technology.

The beautiful surfaces will bring timeless sophistication to your kitchen and bathroom. They work wonderfully with a range of materials, including simple woodgrains, stainless steel and crisp whites. The stones are transformed in a process that captures and enhances their innate brilliance and natural translucency, which can be used for contemporary and creative LED and backlighting.

"It is amazing to consider that the semi-precious stones used to make Concetto are sourced from all corners of the Earth and are up to 150 million years old," says Caesarstone Australia's general manager of marketing, Andrew Dixon. "Concetto is somewhat akin to owning a special piece of art."

Concetto surfaces can be used in applications such as benchtops, splashbacks, wall panelling and furniture. The surfaces are not just functional and elegant, but are also works of art.

OLD-SCHOOL CHARM

"This beautiful bathroom uses monochrome details and traditional touches for a classic style. The cement encaustic floor tiles create an exotic and delicate effect, while the black-and-white colour scheme displays a unique heritage quality. Having been hand-made one by one, each tile is an artwork and when placed together, creates the most interesting design across the floor. The wall tiles are Italian hand-made matt white in a unique size (130mm x 396mm) and laid in a stretcher bond style, like bricks. The unique finish and size, along with the cement-colour grout, work beautifully with the exotic floor, while the pops of green add colour and brightness to the monochrome palette. The shutters, simple detail on the bath and the hint of timber provide a touch of the Orient and a beautiful classic feel in this leafy residence."

COMPLETE BATHROOM

For the first time in Australia, Avenir is offering a range of bathroom accessories and matching heated towel rails: introducing Xylo, a bold and robust collection that will add a uniform style to any bathroom. With a collection of 25 accessories, the highlight of the range is the individually heated towel rails that feature an ultra-safe low-voltage connection. This allows installation flexibility, as they can be installed in wet areas. The heated rail also comes with an engineered in-wall kit that simplifies the installation process.

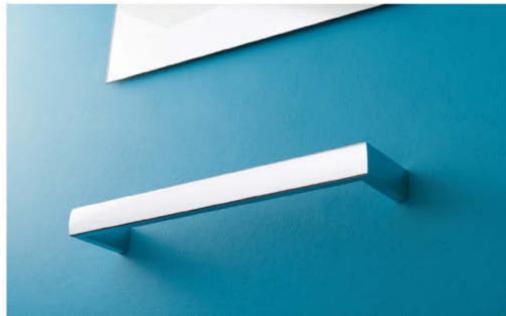

All accessories include a diamond drill bit and MDF fixture to ensure fixing holes are accurately and effortlessly drilled through even the hardest of vitrified tiles. Optional glass, plasterboard and glue-only fixing kits are also available to allow installation on almost any surface. High-quality fixings and a tube of epoxy glue are also included for a secure and enduring result.

The high-quality finish comes standard in bright chrome, while an optional matt black version is available on request. Made in Australia, the Xylo range is covered by a 10-year warranty and available at selected stores.

Enjoy the warmth and individuality that natural stone offers with the durability and low maintenance of engineered stone. The Quantum Quartz Natural Quartz Collection is inspired by nature and stone, which has been used since the dawn of civilisation. Popular natural marbles, such as Calacutta, Carrara, Gioia and Statuario, form the foundation for the 10 stunning colours available.

The Natural Quartz Collection can be used for a variety of applications, including kitchen benchtops, splashbacks, vanities, walls, special features and more. The stone is non-porous, never requires sealing and is highly resistant to heat, stains, chips and abrasions.

The Quantum Quartz range consists of more than 40 stunning colours and is backed by a 10-year limited warranty. Quantum Quartz is manufactured using the patented Breton process.

In addition to servicing Australia's eastern regions, WK Quantum Quartz has a network of distributors supplying Tasmania, South Australia, Western Australia, Northern Territory and New Zealand.

INTERNATIONAL INSPIRATION

The Gareth Ashton Bathroom Collection celebrates the essence of global design. The range has been hand-picked to reflect the world's most inspiring and innovative cities, resulting in a selection of products that are minimally styled with sleek lines and a balance of organic and angular shapes.

The angles and edges of the New York skyline are brought to life with the stylish Park Avenue range, featuring sharp lines and rectangular forms. Or, for a softer look, the Madison Avenue range features a calming combination of organic shapes and bold forms. Due to their stylish simplicity, both ranges can be seamlessly integrated into a variety of spaces.

Across the Atlantic, the Lucia range is inspired by timeless Italian design. Lucia invites a sense of minimalism with elegant circle elements, while the Monza shower range adds a different dimension to the bathroom with its sleek, contemporary aesthetic and modern functionality.

Abey Australia's commitment to state-of-the-art craftsmanship and enduring style means each range in the Gareth Ashton Bathroom Collection brings the best in design, manufacturing and quality to Australian interiors.

PROFESSIONAL EDGE

When you love to cook and want professional results every time, the Professional+ FX series is just what you need. And with three oven models in the FX range to choose from, there is sure to be one to tug at your apron strings.

The recently released Professional+ FX 100 model combines continental styling with sleek drop-down doors to make a seriously smart style statement. While the 100cm model offers double multi-function electric ovens, the FX 90cm model has a uniquely constructed energy-saving panel (ESP) that allows you to switch from a full-size 115-litre oven to a modest 49-litre oven.

Step up to the Professional+ FXP 90 cooker and it will almost clean itself! The 90cm-wide oven has a pyrolytic cleaning function, which at 450°C, carbonises all cooking residue to ash. All that is left to do at the end is simply wipe it away with a damp cloth.

All models in the Professional+ FX range are offered in stainless steel or black, both finished with chrome fittings.

Falmec Italy has revolutionised the cooker hood industry with its new E-ion cooker hood range. Using the company's patented bipolar-controlled ionisation technology, Falmec's E-ion cooker hoods not only decrease unpleasant odours but also re-establish optimum ionic balance in the living space, which is beneficial to a healthy environment. The action produced by the ions neutralises and sanitises all the polluting agents in the air, such as bacteria, viruses, dust mites, pollen, foul odours and cigarette smoke.

The Falmec E-ion system does away with exhaust tubes, eliminating all architectural restrictions. No need for masonry work or accommodating for installation problems — the era of additional costs is over.

The Falmec E-ion cooker hood range is exclusive to Abey Australia.

FOR THE LOVE OF FOOD

Enjoying healthy meals is easy to achieve when using fresh foods that provide the vitamins, minerals and trace elements our bodies need every day. Fresh food supplies energy, strengthens the immune system, boosts your metabolism and can even help put you in a good mood. Quite simply, the fresher the produce when it's prepared, the more nutritious it is. Therefore, it's important to not only buy really fresh food but also to ensure it is perfectly stored while at home.

Not all types of food need the same temperature and humidity, so Liebherr has introduced an additional temperature zone, BioFresh, where many types of food can be kept fresh up to three times longer than in a traditional refrigerator compartment.

Keeping the temperature accurately at O°C, combined with high humidity, results in fruit and vegetables staying fresher for longer, while a dry environment is ideal for storing meat, fish and dairy products. With Liebherr's BioFresh, not only is the appearance and fresh flavour of your produce maintained, importantly the valuable vitamins and minerals our bodies crave are also preserved for much longer.

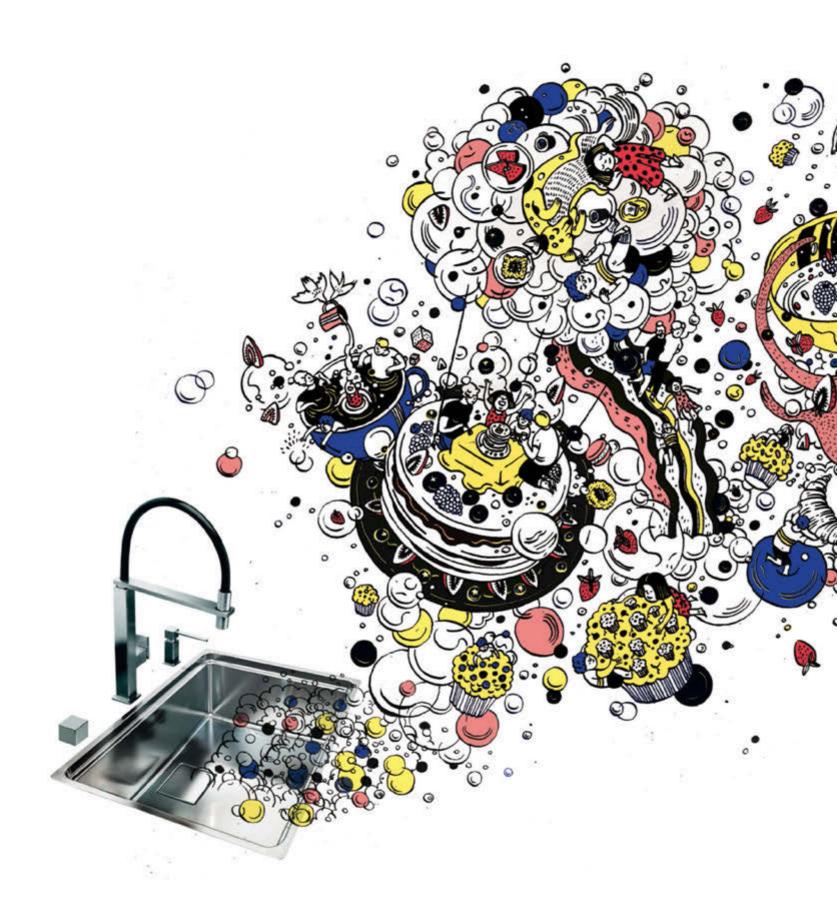

Liebherr's BioFresh-Plus technology provides greater flexibility and control for ideal food storage conditions, particularly for temperature-sensitive tropical fruits — the types we often place in a fruit bowl on the kitchen bench. With the BioFresh-Plus independent electronic control system, the temperature can be adjusted from -2°C (fish) to +6°C (exotic fruits).

So, for the love of food, love Liebherr.

ENVIRONMENTALLY

It is no secret that Australians love cooking and entertaining. However, the more we cook, the more food scraps and waste we have to deal with, not to mention the nasty food smells.

That's why an InSinkErator food waste disposer system is a must-have appliance for the modern kitchen. Rather than scraping and pouring messy waste into a kitchen pedal bin, simply turn on the cold water tap, switch on the system and empty the food waste into the sink.

With just about any type of food waste able to go down the drain, handling of food scraps is minimised and time spent preparing and cleaning up after meals is significantly reduced. Extremely quiet and efficient, the disposer grinds food without the use of blades in just seconds. After being ground, food waste is sent via the sewerage system to a waste water treatment plant. Treatment plants are designed to treat organic waste — in contrast to landfill sites, which are the least desirable way to dispose of organic waste. Properly equipped facilities allow food waste to be recycled, and the methane gas generated can be converted into usable energy to power homes and businesses.

The InSinkErator food waste disposer is a win for the environment and a step forward for the modern Australian kitchen.

Built from Experience

CLEVER COOKING

Steel, an Italian company with 91 years' experience in the commercial cooker market, has finally launched in Australia. Through the company's new domestic range of multifunctional combi-steam ovens and cookers, Steel dares you to be different.

A provincial-style oven that is grand in capacity, striking in looks and holds its own with the option of having a showstopping combisteam feature, Ascot by Steel will add the textural interest you are looking for in your kitchen.

The Ascot range of cookers combines power, performance and style with operating simplicity and sophisticated design. Available in a variety of dynamic colours with a combination of different cooking elements — burners, grills (smooth or grooved) and induction — Steel provides you with complete cooking flexibility.

All Steel ovens are multifunctional and feature two combi-steam features — static steam (no fan) and fan-forced steam. The cookers use a water reserve in the base of the ovens to create steam to be used during the cooking process. All Steel ovens feature a high-grade micro-embossed stainless-steel surface within the interior for easy cleaning.

Visit the Steel website to find out more about the great range of appliances.

ATTENTION SEEKER

As the hunger for pattern and texture in interior finishes continues to escalate, Southern Cross Splashbacks has recently launched Patchwork, a 300mm x 300mm scored porcelain product with 16 different micro-geometrics and delicate matt/gloss detailing. Patchwork draws inspiration from classic decorative elements, such as wallpaper and antique pressed metal. Its embossed character creates a striking visual texture that is highly tactile, but still easy to clean.

While it has a strong vintage vibe, Patchwork has a fresh, modern edge, making it ideal for a broad range of kitchen and bathroom projects.

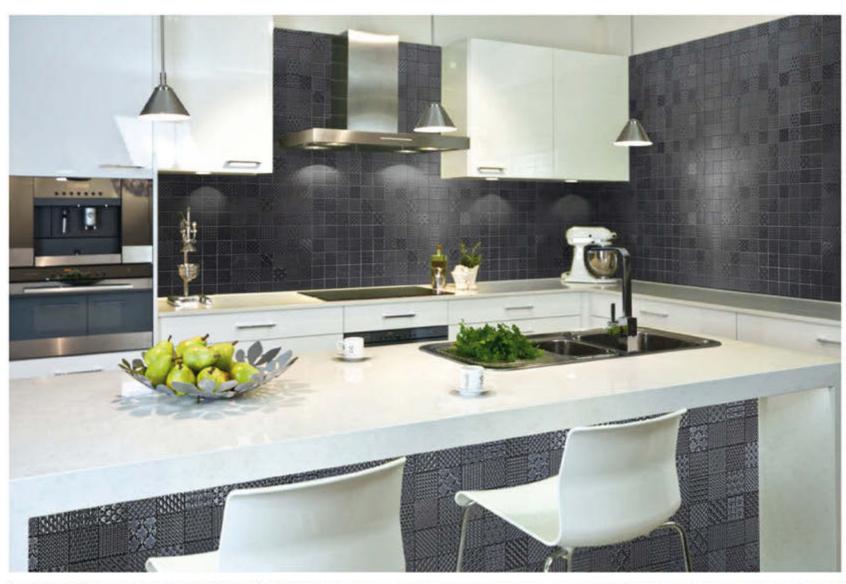

Seven colourways are available, from Frost — a crisp whiteon-white — to Ebony — a seductive black-on-black (featured here) — with bold, subtle and colourful options in between.

To see the real thing, the company's Mulgrave showroom boasts a wide selection of splashbacks, teamed with complementary benchtops and cabinets. Its fully trained and friendly staff are also there to assist. Take advantage of Southern Cross Splashbacks' expert installation service for a flawless finish.

Your kitchen plays a vital role in everyday living. It's for this reason that the team at award-winning firm Jag Kitchens believes personalising your kitchen space is essential to the success of your design. The company boasts more than 25 years' experience designing and executing custom-built kitchens, a history that shows in the quality of its work.

As with any significant purchase, building your dream kitchen can be daunting. From choosing the layout, design and materials to deciding on the finishes and appliances, every aspect requires careful consideration. With so many choices, expert advice is crucial to achieving a result that is functional, stylish and cost-effective.

As you walk through the doors of Jag Kitchens' showroom, this pressure is lifted, with the company's team of experienced consultants ready to guide you through the process. The showroom consultants are experts in fields such as interior design, industrial design and architecture and possess a wealth of industry knowledge.

You don't have to plan an extravagant kitchen to benefit from the design service offered. The company's consultants will walk you through the showroom's nine full-display kitchens and present you with the latest in finishes, hardware and accessories to create a winning recipe for your home's requirements.

Jag's latest showroom display has been designed to explore innovation at the highest level and it enriches passersby with the creative opportunities available. The latest in automated hardware technology has been incorporated throughout the display, where the island top operates via remote control to expose the sink and create an area for seating. A veneer openshelf unit provides a display of ornaments, then lowers into a cavity to expose a television and appliances such as a toaster and kettle, which electronically lower from the underside of the overhead. Brands stocked include Smeg, Miele, Liebherr, AEG and Hettich.

Jag's expertise is not limited to kitchens alone. The company's flexibility extends to cabinetry for all areas of the home, from entertainment units that cater for the latest in home audio to outdoor kitchens, bars, 'robes, studies and more.

Whether you need a large family kitchen with a focus on lots of storage space or have an apartment kitchen of small proportions, Jag Kitchens will find an innovative solution to suit your lifestyle needs.

You can rest assured that we are at their service to ensure your project runs smoothly. Come and compare the very best European kitchen appliances at either of their two showroom locations – Plympton and Unley.

EVERYTHING FOR THE HOME

Schots Home Emporium has been an institution in Melbourne for decades. First established as a renovator's supplier in 1978, Schots is now recognised as one of Australia's leading importers and manufacturers of high-quality fixtures, fittings and furniture.

Customers can now enjoy more location flexibility with the opening of a new store in Geelong. Both the Geelong and Clifton Hill stores have huge showrooms with a broad range of products – from unique homewares and renovation treasures to fine furniture and everything in between.

Schots sources and stocks only the finest-quality products from around the world. Its reproduction pieces are all precisely made to the exact proportions of antique originals with meticulous attention to fine detail, making them virtually impossible to distinguish from the genuine article. The company's unique stock features a diverse range of products for everything in your home, including encaustic tiles, copper baths, marble-top vanities and fireclay sinks.

With a large luxury range to suit all budgets, helpful staff and even a cafe, Schots is perfect for a simple Sunday browse or for finding that one-of-a-kind piece.

FASHION PLUS DESIGN

Scavolini prides itself on embracing unique ideas and products that reinterpret the very concept of a kitchen. Collaborating with top Italian fashion label Diesel, the two iconic brands have set out to create a project where design becomes casual, sociable and fun. The Diesel Social Kitchen combines modernity and comfort, creating a working area with space for entertaining friends.

With a perfect fusion of the Diesel lifestyle and Scavolini's experience and technology, the Diesel Social Kitchen is a revolutionary product. It features different and unusual materials that are new but time-worn, with original colours and shade variations.

The kitchen is defined by natural, simple materials — such as wood, steel and glass, processed together with metal — that are aged with special vintage treatments. The idea is to provide a kitchen with a lived-in atmosphere, an ironic mix of vintage soul and details drawn from the industrial aesthetic.

Fashion plus design are central to the uniquely stylish Italian manufacturing tradition upon which Scavolini has built its success. With more than 50 years' experience, the company knows how to produce kitchen cabinetry that is as functional as it is beautiful, classic as it is modern.

PREVIOUS WINNERS

Office Category

Project Schneider Electric
Design Futurespace

This project presented the opportunity for Schneider Electric to demonstrate to its peers and the business community a commitment to ecologically sustainable development initiatives associated with the design, fit-out and use of a corporate head office environment. Forest Stewardship Council timber and furniture approved by the Green Building Council of Australia were used throughout.

Residential Category Project Colour House

Design Ande Bunbury Architects

Colour House focuses on small and sustainable living. It creates practical and functional spaces using beautiful green interiors. In this project, materials and finishes were selected for durability, low toxicity and local providence.

Education Category

Project Katoomba Library

Design CK Design International

This project is an example of innovative and excellent design practise as it proposes new ways of working within a library space. Using environmental products throughout the space truly shows what is achievable, not only in an educational arena but also at home.

Retail Category Project Inch Hairdressers Design Pedram Zade

Materials used in this project were recycled — including building materials and furniture — adding so much more value to the whole design. This has created a homely and inviting, yet eclectic, rustic retail space. Old doors on one wall look fantastic and show how you can use and upcycle objects to suit different spaces.

and energy-efficient products for more than 20 years, and its new range, Envirotouch, continues this tradition. Envirotouch is a unique range of intelligent, timer-based switches that provide simple control of applications in the bathroom and kitchen, including small appliances, heated towel rails, lights, heaters and exhaust fans.

The four point-of-use Envirotouch models allow you to automatically select the running time from multiple preset options at the touch of a button. Consistent use can significantly reduce your power bills, energy consumption, and your carbon footprint. Controlling the use of appliances ensures devices do not run excessively and burn out, reducing potential risk of fire or injury.

These intelligent energy savers are cost-effective and can be installed immediately to existing switches and sockets, or installed in new projects. Envirotouch can be used across residential, commercial and institutional applications for improved efficiency and increased environmental and economic benefits.

The fittings of the Free family engineered by Häfele give flaps new freedom in movement. This opens up more opportunities in the visual and technical design of furniture and has tangible benefits compared to hinged doors. But above all, it gives the furniture and the room undreamt or elegance and lightness. It doesn't matter whether a flap is lifted, tilted, swivelled or folded - it immediately provides added value.

More than 90 years of experience with furniture fittings, engineering expertise, and a close connection to the market and the people who work with furniture fittings on a daily basis led to the development of this product family. Inspired by the requirements of the market of tomorrow. The Free family fulfils the demands for creative freedom and choice of material, design, ease of installation and convenient operation on a new level.
